Every Democratic paper in this district, together with the Louisville Dispatch, is requested to publish the above resolutions.

A Minnesota paper thus describes a marriage: "Last Tuesday evening at 8:3 sharp, Jack Puncher and Hallelujah Sal were tied together with the strong arm of the law and lasso. The rope was used to prevent Sal from tearing herself away, for she is as timid as a jack rabbit, as this is the first time she has been married. She'll get tame though after she has been married a few times. The bride wore a wine colored Fourth of July dress and a new sunbonnet, while the bridegroom did not. A grand ball and a free-for-all fight ended the happy couple's wedding day, and every one went home happy."

In England it is not believed that war between Spain and the United States can be averted.

War Prophecies.

Our people will remember a lecture at the Baptist church in Dover on the night of July 26, 1896, by Mr. John W. L. Reeves, of Ellsberry, Ohio, on "The Chronology of the Bible." It was a very hot night, you will remember, if you were there, and it is hard to recall much of the deep argument used to back up his prophecies of things to occur as shown by the bible. But the present imminent danger of war brings to mind that he said the bible teaches that before 1900 a disastrous war would come, not only to this nation, but that it would become a general war of all the nations, and would be the worst ever known. He further said the Russian bear would finally become triumphant.

Add to this the prophesy of Mr. John Jameson, made at Dover about the same, that there was "blood on the moon, and a general and disastrous war was bound to come by 1900," and place them alongside of present developments, and you can but think—what you please.—Dover News.

A man in Fleming county refused to buy a farm because Spanish needles were growing on it. Not because he objected to the weed—but it is all in the name.

Are You Honest?

Then come in and pay that store account you owe us and promised to pay in a short time. We have some bills not due which we are not asking for but that which is due we hope to receive soon. We have quit the goods business, and are anxious to collect up as we need our money and we believe you will not put us off longer. If you can't pay all, come in and pay as what you can.

J. E. Burgher, Jr.

A test was made recently, says an exchange, on a load of hogs at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, to determine the actual gain that could be made by properly feeding and watering them. A bunch of seventy-three head was driven from the chutes to the scales and weighed 17,320 lbs. After they were sold they weighed 17,600 lbs., and were only fed one bushel of corn, showing an actual gain of 280 pounds.

There are 8,064 languages in the world, and its inhabitants profess more than 1,000 religions. The number of men is about equal to the number of women. The average of life is about thirty-three years. To 1,000 persons, only one reaches 100 years of life; to every 100 six reach the age of sixty-five, and not more than one in 600 lives to eighty years. There are on earth over 1,000,000,000 inhabitants. Of these 33,033,033 die every year, 91,824 every day, 3,730 every hour, 60 every minute, or one every second. The married are long-lived than the single, and above all, those who observe a sober and industrious conduct. Tall men live longer than short ones. Women have more chances of life in their favor, previous to fifty years of age, than men have, but fewer afterward. The number of marriages is in proportion of 74 to 1,000 individuals.

Those born in the spring are generally of a more robust constitution than others. Births are more frequent by night than by day; also deaths. The number of men capable of bearing arms is calculated at one-fourth of the population.—Exchange.

It is the bubbling stream that flows gently, the little rivulet that runs night and day by the farm house that is useful, rather than a swollen flood or warring cataract. Niagara excites our wonder, and we stand amazed at the powerful greatness of God there as He pours it forth from the hollow of his hand. But one Niagara is enough for the continents of the world, while the same world requires thousands and tens of thousands of silver fountains and gently flowing rivulets that water every farm and garden, and shall flow on every day and night with their gentle, quiet beauty. So with the act of our lives. It is not by great deeds, like those of martyrs, good is to be done, but by the daily and quiet virtue of life.—Exchange.

A newspaper must be issued promptly because the train which carries it to subscribers leaves on time. Consequently advertisers should prepare their copy promptly. News must be gathered quickly. A Rival of Solomon.

A man in South Africa left his property to be divided equally among his two sons. Not being able to agree, they decided to let President Kruger arbitrate. He said to the elder: "You are the elder, are you not?" "Yes," was the answer. "So you shall divide the property." This pleased the elder immensely. "You are the younger," continued Kruger to the other, "so you shall have first choice." This absolutely insured the most exact division that the wisdom of the heirs could hit upon.—Modern Medical Science.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce

as a candidate for Congress from the Fifth District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The month during which the school census is to be taken begins today, (April 1,) and although the law seems plain and explicit we have frequently found trustees that had difficulty in understanding it. The following questions are frequently asked:

"If a child is too young now, but will be of legal age before school begins, should I take his name?" "If he is under twenty now, but will be over that age in a few weeks or months, must he be counted?"

If a man is going to move in a short time to another district, in which one should he be listed? "If a man is listed in one district, but moves to another before school begins, has he a right to send to that school?"

The answers to these questions are very simple, and if due attention is given to the law no trouble or confusion need arise.

The census may be taken any time during April, but the names should be of those who were living in the district on the first day of April. If a man moves out after the first day of April he should be counted just as if he had not moved, and if he moves in he should not be counted,—all who resided in the district on the first day of the month and no other should be counted.

The census that is taken in April is for the following school year which begins July 1st and should include all the children between the age of six and twenty years on that day. For instance, if the census taken in April finds a child nineteen years old but who will be twenty before the first of July, leave the name off; if on the contrary, a child is five years old in April but will be six before July, include the name.

In reply to the last question, as to whether children who are listed in one district but who remove to another have a right to attend the public school in the latter district, the answer is, that children of the proper age have the right to attend school in any district in which they reside and in which a public school is being taught. If a man moves half a dozen times during the school session, his children would have the right to attend that many schools.—Winchester Democrat.

The President seems to be very slothful in his actions concerning the Cuban Question. Last week he put Congress off until Monday, then he said his message would be ready by Wednesday but when Wednesday came he again asked Congress to wait until next Monday when he thinks his message will be ready. The American people are getting very tired of such lingering of this question. If we are going to have to have a war, the sooner we have it the better it will be for the people. There is nothing to be gained by putting it off.

If we must fight Spain, the quicker we get at it the better.

The job will become more difficult through delay. We should strike before Spain concentrates a strong force of her best ships in the West Indies. There has not been a day since the blowing up of the Maine that we could not have destroyed Spain's ship in detail, as they came to this side. Had the Maine been an English or German ship, Havana would have been bombarded and captured long ago.—Lexington Observer.

Is it possible that the Spaniards will have to blow up another ship before McKinley will be able to decide what to do? Well, it seems that way just now.
